

For several more days the Oberlin Heritage Center will be hosting an exhibit highlighting Our Lady of Guadalupe—who is the patroness of the Americas.

Since I wear it on Marian feasts, you’ve seen my Our Lady of Guadalupe stole—that also depicts St. Juan Diego; the man to whom Our Lady appeared in 1531.

Until recently, very little was known about Blessed Juan Diego except that Our Lady appeared to him in December 1531. The apparitions occurred at Tepeyac, a small hill and a former sanctuary to the Aztec goddess Tonanzin. Mary asked Juan Diego to request that the local bishop build a church on that site. There she could be present with all her love and compassion for “all the inhabitants of this land.”

Not believing Juan Diego at first, Bishop Juan Zumarraga asked for a heavenly sign. On the day Mary promised that Juan Diego would receive this sign, his uncle Juan Bernardino was dying of a disease introduced by the Europeans. Instead of going to the Lady for this sign, Juan Diego took another route, seeking a priest to hear his uncle’s confession.

The Lady appeared to him, assuring him that his uncle had been healed, and that on the top of Tepeyac hill Juan Diego would find what the bishop requested. Juan climbed the hill and found its summit covered with beautiful flowers of all colors. He cut the flowers; the Lady arranged them on his cloak of very coarse fiber, known as a tilma, and sent him off to the bishop.

When Juan unfolded the tilma before the bishop and his assistants, the image of Our Lady of Guadalupe appeared on it. A visit to Juan Bernardino revealed that she had appeared to him, healed him and called herself “Our Lady of Guadalupe.”

This was the first of many miracles worked to this day through her intercession.

MUSEUM OF HISPANIC & LATINO CULTURES

Guest Exhibit

Mexican Imagery of Our Lady of Guadalupe

September 5-21, 2019

The Heritage Center is pleased to have The Museum of Hispanic and Latino Cultures (Lorain) return to install this new exhibit that coincides with National Hispanic Heritage Month (Sept 15 - Oct 15). The display highlights representations of the Virgin of Guadalupe, one of the most significant figures of Roman Catholicism, who also is known as patroness of the Americas. Learn about the symbolism in her portrayal and how she is tied to Mexico's religious and social history.

View the exhibit as part of OHC's Upstairs/Downstairs tours every Tuesday, Thursday, and Saturday at 10:30 a.m. and 1:30 p.m., or during 30 minute drop-in Sneak Peek tours at the Monroe House (7311 South Professor Street, Oberlin). Normal tour fees apply; visit www.oberlinheritagecenter.org for details.

Qui bene cantat, bis orat.

After a brief summer break, the choir is again practicing: every Tuesday at 7PM in the church. Join us as we make a joyful noise to the Lord.

Questions: call Carl Lee at 440.320.9138.

Special Hurricane Collection

The Diocese usually asks for a special collection to aid in relief for disasters such as Hurricane Dorian.

We will use our second collection in November for that purpose.

SAVE THE DATE!

At 7:30pm on Friday, October 4th, Simon Housner (a Cellist who played Cello here at Easter—and who plays at Sacred Heart every weekend) will be playing a concert at Sacred Heart. Details to follow, but save the date NOW.

BUS TRIP! Reserve your space soon for Sacred Heart's annual bus trip. We'll visit Playhouse Square, St. Stephen's Church, Sokolowski's University Inn, the Cathedral of St. John the Evangelist, and of course, a place to have ice cream! We'll depart from Sacred Heart at 9:30 a.m. on Thursday, October 17, and return about 5:30 that evening. Cost: $35 per person (not including lunch). Make your check payable to SACRED HEART CHURCH, writing BUS TRIP on the memo line. Checks can be dropped off at the St. Patrick or Sacred Heart during regular office hours or placed in an envelope marked BUS TRIP (name, address and phone number are required for each passenger), and put in the offering basket at either parish on the weekend. Questions? Call Carrol Wilhelm at 647-3251. Leave message with your name and phone number. Feel free to invite a friend!
More details are on the flyers at either entrance to the church.

Join us for the Potluck Dinner on Sunday, September 29th at 12:30 pm

We will be watching the Browns vs. Ravens game and also have some games to play

Please bring an entrée, side dish, or dessert to share that will serve 10-12 people

Please Pray the Rosary with us Saturday at 5:23 pm
